COMPLETES ACQUISITION OF QUICK BASE

DEAL WILL TRANSITION BUSINESS INTO INDEPENDENT COMPANY WELL-POSITIONED FOR LEADERSHIP IN LOW-CODE PLATFORM FOR CITIZEN DEVELOPER MARKET

New York City & Cambridge, MA – March 8, 2016 – Welsh, Carson, Anderson & Stowe (“WCAS”), a leading technology-focused private equity firm, today announced it has entered into a definitive agreement with Intuit Inc. (INTU) to acquire its fast-growing Quick Base business. Quick Base provides an industry-leading low-code development platform to more than 6,000 business customers to enable the creation and rapid deployment of customized, purpose-built cloud applications.

WCAS intends to operate Quick Base as a stand-alone company with its headquarters based in Cambridge, Mass. Upon close, Quick Base General Manager Allison Mnookin will be named CEO of the newly independent company, joined by her existing senior management team and more than 200 employees. Financial terms of the deal were not disclosed.

“Quick Base has cultivated a large, passionate customer base and sustained strong financial performance with 33 percent annual revenue growth over the past decade, “ said Allison Mnookin, appointed CEO of Quick Base. “Now we can appreciate our growth even faster and deliver innovations to further delight our customers.”

Quick Base has been a pioneer in the low-code platform space since 1999, enabling citizen developers within businesses to create, customize and deploy business applications. According to a recent report by Forrester, this market is expected to grow to more than $15 billion in 2020.<sup>1</sup>

“Quick Base is led by a strong management team with a highly supportive customer base and a platform that has been changing the way businesses create and deploy applications,” said Michal Donovan, a WCAS General Partner. “With increased focus and investment, such as doubling product development funding, the company can even better serve its customers and capitalize on the multi-billion dollar opportunity ahead.”<sup>2</sup>

“Our over-arching goal was to find the right strategic fit for Quick Base, assessing potential buyers against a set of decision principles that would ensure the best outcome for employees, customers, partners and shareholders,” said Brad Smith, chairman and CEO, Intuit. “I’m pleased we have found a home for Quick Base with a company that will invest in its future and provide the product support and service customers deserve.”

Once the transaction is closed, Intuit will become one of Quick Base’s largest customers with more than 10,000 actively used apps, created without code and used across all employees and departments.

The transaction with Intuit is subject to customary closing conditions, including requisite regulatory approvals, and is expected to close during the first half of 2016. Intuit announced the intention to divest the Quick Base business on August 20, 2015.
